Unhappy Landing

In their first all-Italian foray against England, Il Duce's air force met disaster at the eager hands of R.A.F. defenders. A formation of Caproni bombers and Fiat fighters raided a convoy in the Thames Estuary. British report that in 15-minute battle, seven Italian bombers and six fighters were downed. Above, a British officer looks over one of the wrecked Caproni planes.

Ironically, the war ended on Armistice Day for the Italian flier, centre, pictured arriving at a London railroad station. Among first of Il Duce's airmen captured in England, he was taken when the R.A.F. made its first bag of Italian planes, smashing a formation of their World War Allies that raided a convoy in the Thames Estuary.

2 MORE SHIPS OF CONVOY SAFE

LONDON (AP)—A communiqué issued today by the Admiralty said:

"Of the 39 ships in the convoy which was attacked by an enemy surface raider (in the north Atlantic) on November 5, a total of 37 were announced as safe in Admiralty communications of November 12 and 13.

"Owing to the necessity for maintaining wireless silence, it has only now been established that two more ships from the convoy are safe. They are the San Demetrio and the Moriska Wola.

"So far as can be ascertained, four ships of the convoy only, having a total tonnage of 25,433 tons, were sunk by the raider. One other ship of 7,500 tons, is, however, still unaccounted for.

"The 39th ship, one of 2,374 tons, which escaped from the raider, was subsequently attacked by enemy aircraft three days later, set on fire and abandoned."

Off to War

The few spectators allowed on the closely-guarded pier wave farewell and a busy little tug puffs at her bow as the Queen Elizabeth, world's largest ship, is warped from her New York dock into the Hudson River—to begin a journey whose end no man knows. The Queen was on active service at last—probably as a troopship—after being tied up for seven months.

Famous Players to Build $200,000 Theatre Here

Famous Players Canadian Corporation announced this afternoon that a modern movie theatre to cost approximately $200,000, will be constructed on Yates Street between Douglas and Blanshard Streets.

Purchase of the property on which the theatre will be constructed has just been completed. Gillespie, Hart and Co. Ltd. conducted the negotiations.

Plans for the new theatre are now being prepared and it is expected that construction work will be started before the end of the year.

The theatre will have a frontage of 25 feet on Yates Street. This will provide the box office and entrance and will then open up on to the property which faces on Johnson Street, which has a width of 50 feet. The theatre will be 220 feet long.

The new theatre will be among the most modern in Canada. Famous Players feel that this city is entitled to one of their latest structures. At the present time Famous Players operate the Capitol, Dominion, Atlas and Royal Victoria theatres.

NAZI, ITALIAN ARMY HEADS TALK

BERLIN (AP)—Heads of the German and Italian high commands met today at Innsbruck and parted without giving any hint of the subject of their conversation other than the German news agency's statement that they had "military discussions about the joint conduct of the war."

The conference brought together Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, and Marshal Pietro Badoglio, his opposite number in Italy, together with their staffs. Authoritative sources did not deny the Greek military situation was taken up.

One of those at the conference was the German artillery expert, Gen. Alfred Jodl. The German and Italian military attaches in Rome and Berlin also were there.

Molotov Home

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Vyacheslav Molotov returned to Russia today from his conversations with German officials in Berlin.

A Tass dispatch from London quoted New York reports that British bombers had raided the German capital during Molotov's banquet for German officials, keeping guests at the Soviet Embassy until the early morning when the alarm ended.

17 Nazis Bagged

LONDON (CP)—Seventeen Nazi planes were shot down over Britain today in addition to two destroyed during last night, the Ministry of Information announced tonight.

Missing Depth Charge Off Port Now Harmless

Danger to shipping from a depth charge accidentally dumped into the straits from the deck of a naval patrol vessel a few days ago is now considered past, it was stated by a naval authority here today.

The location of the 300-pound bomb was approximately 1 1/4 miles east of Albert Head and in the path of vessels operating between William Head and Victoria. All shipping was notified and for a time steamers in the coastwise services and small craft gave the location a wide berth.

"There is absolutely no danger to shipping now," said the naval authority. "The depth charge proved to be a dud and can now be considered harmless."

Previously, naval authorities had issued the following statement: "A depth charge was dropped accidentally near Victoria a few days ago. Depth charges do not float and if they are not set to explode, they will not detonate.

"Naval authorities informed all pilots and seafaring men concerning the accident and the area concerned was thoroughly searched until sufficient time had elapsed so that the depth charge dropped could be considered perfectly innocuous. All depth charges used by the Royal Canadian Navy are constructed in accordance with the requirements of the Hague Treaty and all of them definitely sink."

Depth charges used by the Canadian navy, it was explained, are set to explode at varying depths by the water pressure.

Properly stowed, they are harmless until the firing mechanism is set.

The naval authorities are now satisfied that the depth bomb is lying harmlessly on the sea bed.

Final Bulletins

War Rules

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt formally recognized this afternoon that a state of war exists between Italy and Greece and extended the provision of the Neutrality Act to that conflict.

Mediterranean waters already had been banned to U.S. ships under earlier Washington orders.

Free Train Rides

OTTAWA (CP)—A bill, which would amend the Railway Act to provide that officers and men of the military, air and naval forces in Canada when in uniform be carried free on Canadian Railways, was introduced in the Commons this afternoon by T. L. Church, Conservative, Toronto-Broadview, and given first reading.

M. McPhee Sick

GRAND FORKS, B.C. (CP)—Howie McPhee, former Canadian Olympic Games star from Vancouver, is critically ill here, after collapsing last night following vigorous exercise.

McPhee, a University of British Columbia graduate, came here last May to join the high school teaching staff.

DEFENCE BOARD IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP)—The joint international defence commission, headed by Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York and Col. O. M. Biggar, Canadian chairman, conferred here today on problems of defending the west coast.

Morning and afternoon sessions were held at the city hall by the full 12-man commission, but they had little to say when asked about strategic developments.

No Attack on Russia

LONDON (CP)—The Soviet government has had before it for nearly three months British proposals which include an offer of assurance that Britain would not be associated in any attack on Russia, authoritative sources said tonight.

No reply has been received.

Theatre Royal Hit

LONDON (CP)—The Theatre Royal in Drury Lane was damaged in a German air raid, it was disclosed tonight.

A bomb crashed through the roof, the gallery and two balconies, and exploded in the pit.

Historic parts of the theatre, one of the oldest in the world, were not damaged. Only a small piece of plaster was knocked from the Royal box.

Biggest Berlin Raid! 5 Stations, 26 Airdromes Hit

LONDON (CP)—Royal Air Force bombs on Berlin wrought new chaos at the heart of Germany's railway system, tearing at five railway stations and freight yards scattered through the German capital overnight, the Air Ministry said tonight.

"Great damage" that will affect not only German transport but communications in occupied countries was claimed by the ministry's news service.

The whole area of one station, the Stettiner, was reported "a mass of flames."

One bomber pilot said he saw a building go "sky-high" in a "terrific explosion."

Falling Debris Starts New Fires

"The building was the centre of the biggest of the several fires blazing in Berlin when we arrived," said the pilot. "Then there came a terrific explosion and the whole structure went up. Flames and sparks shot all over the place and burning debris, falling all around the central blaze, started scores of smaller fires."

"The explosion lit up the inside of our machine, though we were thousands of feet above it. Even the anti-aircraft gunners seemed to have been awed by it, for there was a distinct lull in the barrage for several minutes."

One objective was a German bomber base concealed in the woods near Vannes-Meucon in Brittany, France, where, the Air Ministry news service said, repeated hits were made by planes of the coastal command. Many fires were started.

St. Leger Hanger Destroyed

The first bomb dropped on St. Leger airdrome, northeast of Amiens, during a dive attack hit a hanger and caused explosions. A Messerschmitt fighter was sent spinning into a wood by a Hudson gunner, the news service added.

One aircraft dropped a stick of bombs which appeared to hit an ammunition dump at Stavanger airdrome, in Norway, the bulletin said, but "very difficult weather" interfered with the raid.

Reports of last night's attack on Berlin showed railway stations and railway yards and the power stations at Wilmersdorf and Charlottenburg were heavily bombed.

"At Hamburg many fires were started in the Wilhelmsburg oil refinery, and at Bremen an airplane factory was attacked.

During a coastal command attack on the airdrome at Rosendael, Messerschmitt 110 was shot down.

Germans Claim Damage Small

BERLIN (AP)—A German communiqué today said "The enemy on the night of November 14-15 attempted to raid the Reich capital with strong forces. The planned large-scale raid foundered under the most effective anti-aircraft fire. Only 12 British planes succeeded in reaching Berlin, and three of them were downed over the city proper, and an additional three in the vicinity of Berlin by anti-aircraft fire. Six British bombers were downed by anti-aircraft fire in the west shortly after crossing the coast. Enemy bombs caused only immaterial damage to several buildings. In Hamburg and Bremen, as well as two other places in Northern Germany a few bombs were dropped.

"The enemy, in the course of November 14 and last night, lost 20 planes, seven in air fights, 12 by anti-aircraft fire and one by naval artillery fire. Five of our own planes have not returned."

Dig Bodies From Coventry Ruins

COVENTRY, Eng. (CP)—In Coventry tonight men tore at piles of brickwork and concrete covering the bodies of their women and children buried in the German air raid which lasted from dusk yesterday to dawn today.

Herbert Morrison, Minister of Home Security, arrived to direct the first relief effort. With him came his wife.

The first thing they did was to halt a frightened caravan of refugees seeking safety in the country.

The awful experience of the night before was written in the pinched white faces that peered at the minister's limousine from trucks, wagons and automobiles.

Royal Air Force pilots took fire hoses from the hands of firemen reeling with fatigue, and played streams of water on the smouldering heaps of rubble which are all that remain of some of England's finest examples of Tudor architecture.

TWO HEROES KILLED

Two policemen, Fred Rollins and William Timms, were among the hero dead. They worked for hours amid falling bombs, rescuing women and children trapped by debris, survivors said.

At dawn today factory workers from night shifts burrowed into the smoking wreckage of their homes, shouting the names of their wives and children and calling, "We're coming . . . we're coming!"

One young man recovered a body and then tunneled into the wreckage, his hands torn and bleeding, to pull out another—his wife.

Four persons literally numbed by the shock of the explosions were found in an air raid shelter and told they were officially "missing." They nodded vaguely and continued to sit there, despite the pleas of welfare workers that they come out.

Expulsions From Lorraine

French Face Threat Of Break With Nazis

VICHY (AP)—Vice-Premier Pierre Laval was reported to be en route to Paris today to attempt to stave off a definite break with Germany.

Relations have reached a critical stage as a result of the expulsion of more than 100,000 French-speaking residents of Nazi-occupied Alsace-Lorraine and dispatches from Paris said German authorities had added to the friction by cutting off passes to travelers from the occupied to the unoccupied zone.

The French government already has filed a strong protest with the German armistice commission over the expulsion. The cabinet met today and will meet again tomorrow.

Well-informed quarters said Laval had secured his cabinet colleagues that he would find a solution before returning to Vichy tomorrow.

Marshal Philippe Petain prepared to make an official trip to Lyons Monday to greet the Alsace-Lorraine refugees.

Meanwhile, French police in the occupied zone arrested 571 alleged Communists, Paris dispatches said, closing 35 establishments—printing "subversive tracts."

After officially protesting the German expulsion action yesterday, the French stood pat awaiting the next German move.

Yesterday's communiqué announcing the protest said French-speaking Lorraine residents had been given the choice of going to Poland or France.

ARK ROYAL 'COMES TO LIFE'—'Sunk' time after time since the war began by Germany's propaganda chiefs, the British aircraft carrier Ark Royal is still being heard from. The War Today

By GUY RHOADES

GIBRALTAR

The suggestion that an attack on the British stronghold of Gibraltar may be imminent arose today, almost simultaneously with a strong indication that Pierre Laval, Vichy Vice-Premier, has overstepped himself in his apparent efforts to take France into Germany's camp.

The first hint of French stiffening appeared yesterday when the Vichy government lodged a vigorous protest with the German armistice commission against ousting of French citizens from the province of Lorraine. The protest was accompanied by a statement from Vichy that the Germans were lying in telling the Lorrainers that their ousting was provided for in an agreement with the French government.

SPAIN BUSY

The Gibraltar suggestion was seen in the fact that Spain's foreign minister, Ramon Serrano Suñer, brother-in-law of Dictator Franco, has gone to Paris to consult with German leaders who appear to have established a headquarters staff in the former French capital.

For a long time it has been assumed that the "Rock" would be assaulted eventually by the Axis in an effort to gain control of the entrance to the Mediterranean. It has also been suggested that Spain—non-belligerent Axis partner—was the logical agent to conduct the attack, because it is the former possessor of the fortress.

SPANIARDS HUNGRY

Spain, however, probably will have to be frightened into any military effort at the moment, because the country is still staggering under the consequences of the civil war started by Franco's friends, and only a day or two ago it was reported Franco was angling for a $100,000,000 loan from the U.S. chiefly to feed the people and rehabilitate them.

SOVIET BEATING

As the Balkan war neared the end of its third week all doubt that the Italians had suffered a severe beating was gone. Greek troops still were on the offensive, advancing into Albania, which Italy seized last year from former King Zog's administration.

For the moment it appeared as though the Italians might eventually be caught at their invasion ports in much the same manner as the British overseas force was caught in the Dunkerque pocket, but with far less chance of getting out.

Germans Soon Will Eat Dogs

BERLIN (AP)—The meat of dogs is being legalized for human consumption in greater Germany. Inspection of dog meat will be made under provision of a new law effective January 1 next, after which that commodity is to be controlled in the same manner as meat from cattle, hogs, goats, horses and other domestic animals.

Dogs and hogs, after being slaughtered, are to be examined for evidence of trichina. The same applies to wild hogs, bears, foxes, river wolves, badgers and other meat-eating animals intended for human consumption.

Horse meat now is available in some restaurants and is served without the customer having to surrender his precious meat points, demanded for beef, pork and other meats.

Unlicensed and unclaimed mongrels presumably will furnish an additional supply of low cost meat, although many better canines are trained for military service with the armed forces.

VALUATION ESTIMATED
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Dr. Robert S. Harris, Massachusetts Institute of Technology nutritional biochemist, commenting on Germany's use of dog meat, said canine meat has a food value "quite the same as that of beef," but is "very tough, gamey, and hasn't a very delicate flavor."

"There is no reason why it should not be edible," he said, adding that it would be "something like venison, bear or squirrel, but much tougher than squirrel."

Dr. Harris, who recently devised two cereal formulae which, if added to the "average forest diet" in the United States would "wipe out the dietary deficiencies of the nation at a cost of $1.80 a year per person," said he could see no reason why Germany was resorting to the legalization of dog meat.

New Speed-up In Britain

LONDON (CP)—An industrial speed-up has been ordered by the government which will involve the drafting of 1,000,000 men and women into the production of munitions by August, 1941.

The object of the scheme is to place Britain's output of war essentials by the end of the second year of war at a pitch reached in 1918, four years after the outbreak of the first Great War.

Of the 1,000,000 new workers to be drafted to wartime essential industries, 500,000 will be women.

The government will comb the nonessential industries for trained workers who can be transferred to the production of planes, tanks, warships and other implements of war.

It is believed possible the speed-up will involve requisitioning industrial property under government management.

TO TRAIN IN U.S.
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Four aviation schools in the United States will be given contracts for "refresher" courses under a proposed plan to train volunteers for service with the Canadian and Royal Air Forces, according to Air Commodore G. C. Pirie of the R.A.F.

The officer, attached to the British embassy in Washington, D.C., said in an interview contracts would be awarded schools in Glendale, Tulsa, Dallas and Chicago.

Part of the officer's duty is to supervise trans-Atlantic flight delivery of war planes purchased in the United States.

"Several weeks ago," said Commodore Pirie, "we started flying Lockheed Hudson bombers from Canada to England. We've been very fortunate in the results."

LONDON (CP)—F.L.L. James Brindley Nicolson, 23, was awarded the Victoria Cross yesterday for shooting down a German fighting plane after his own ship had been set on fire and he had been wounded in combat.

Nicolson was about to abandon his plane when he saw the German and attacked. He was seriously burned about the hands, face, neck and legs.

No U.S. Dispatches From Spain

MADRID (AP)—All American correspondents in Spain were forbidden today to send news dispatches beginning next Monday, in reprisal for what officials said was American refusal to allow the Spanish official news agency EFE to operate in the United States.

(EFE, pronounced "Ayfay," is the foreign service of the official news agency EFE-Cifra.)

The ban embraces the Associated Press, the United Press, the New York Times and the Chicago Tribune.

The newspapers and agencies mentioned are those with regular offices and staff correspondents in Madrid.

It was stated the EFE had proposed to send an EFE correspondent to the United States, Jose Antonio Jimenez Arnau, brother of the director general of the Spanish government press bureau, Enrique Jimenez Arnau.

There was no indication that American correspondents would be obliged to leave the country.

Wheat Surplus To Be Decreased

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner predicts that during the next five years Canada's total wheat production will exceed its total consumption and export sales by not more than 100,000,000 bushels.

Average production would be 380,000,000 bushels a year, or a total of 1,900,000,000 in five years, he said.

Canada would consume domestically 160,000,000 bushels a year, or a total of 800,000,000 bushels.

Exports to the United Kingdom would total another 800,000,000 bushels, figuring Canada would continue to supply 160,000,000 bushels a year or approximately 70 per cent of Britain's overseas requirements.

REICH TO BE MODEL, HITLER DECLARES

BERLIN (AP)—Hitler, addressing munitions workers and army labor groups yesterday, said it is "a plutocratic, capitalist England" dominated by "anti-social tendencies" that is waging war against "the German socialist state."

"This struggle is being carried on, not only by German soldiers, who are the best in the world," said Hitler, "but also by many millions of workers in German factories and armament plants."

He declared the workers had given the soldiers the best weapons so that "sacrifice could be held to the minimum."

The modern German state was "established on the firmest and strongest foundation possible," he stated.

Hitler said that with her expanded production and labor front, Germany "will carry through the fight and, after victory, the German socialist state will be built as a model for the world."

"This mighty peacetime work is Germany's biggest duty after victory," he said.

ST. LAURENT, Man. (CP)—Three men were drowned two miles from shore in Lake Winnipeg late yesterday when their car crashed through thin ice and submerged. The victims were: Jules Coutts, 34; Florian Coutts, 18, and Eddie Sultz, 19. Fishermen working nearby hurried to the scene, but the weakness of the ice prevented them from rendering assistance.

Canadian Envoys To South America

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada will have ministers at Buenos Aires, capital of Argentina, and Rio de Janeiro, capital of Brazil. Prime Minister Mackenzie King made this clear yesterday afternoon in the House of Commons when answering a question from Howard C. Green, Conservative, Vancouver South, based on a newspaper dispatch from Buenos Aires stating a Canadian minister to that capital would be appointed.

Mr. King said the government had decided to send a minister to Argentina and also to Brazil, but approval of the decision by the King was necessary.

The two South American governments had indicated their wish to reciprocate by sending ministers to Ottawa.

Canada's trade commissioner service in South America was most efficient, said Mr. King, but commercial representatives did not have direct access to the governments. To attain that a representative had to have ministerial status.

In view of the increasing control exercised by governments over trade matters the appointment of ministers was desirable. "The influence of the South American republics both from the political and the economic point of view is obvious," said Mr. King. "The government feels Canada should have representation there as soon as possible."

Until recently Canada was represented in foreign countries by ministers to the United States, Japan, France, Belgium and the Netherlands. At present the post of minister at Tokyo is vacant, and the capitals of France, Belgium and the Netherlands are under enemy occupation.

In the past Canada's interests in Argentina have been served by the British ambassador at Buenos Aires and the two Canadian trade commissioners, J. A. Strong and his assistant, J. C. Depocas.

Strike Called At Big Plane Plant

DOWNEY, Cal. (AP)—Congress of Industrial Organizations members on production lines at Vultee Aircraft Inc. were ordered out today in the first strike at a plant manufacturing military planes since outset of the present United States defense program.

No hour was set for the walk-out, decreed as the climax of weeks of negotiations over the minimum wage scale.

The company has on hand orders for $39,000,000 worth of planes for the United States and another $11,000,000 worth for export.

The United Automobile Workers' union claims a membership of "more than 3,000" of the 3,700 production workers in the plant, which has a payroll of some 5,200 employees.

L. H. Michener, regional director of the union, said that instead of the 15-cent increase in minimum pay asked by the union, from 50 cents an hour to 65 cents, the company offered "a slight wage increase" at the end of three months, with another "slight increase" three months later.

'British Offensive In 1942'—Gardiner

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner, just returned from a visit to the United Kingdom, says the British offensive will come in 1942 and Canadians should exert themselves to see nothing is left undone to ensure the fullest possible preparation before that time.

It would be "criminal" to attempt an offensive until every last preparation had been made, he told the House of Commons.

"I don't think the members of the House nor the people of Canada need have any worries as to the final outcome of this war," the minister said.

Big Mill Changes Hands

CRANBROOK (CP)—The Cranbrook Sash and Door Company Limited has purchased the townsite of Lumberton and its stand-alone mill—one of the last in the district—from the British Columbia Spruce Company Limited. The deal will become effective December 31.

B.C. Spruce, an American-operated firm, suspended woods activities and has been planning only for the past few months. With an increased demand for lumber, the yards will be cleared of the remaining 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 feet of lumber at the end of the year.

Included in the townsite purchase are 49 small residences, a boarding house which will accom-

Honors at Funeral Of Egypt Premier

CAIRO (AP)—A troop of cavalry from the royal bodyguard escorted the body of Hassan Sabry Pasha, Egyptian Premier who dropped dead yesterday at the opening of Parliament, through the streets of Cairo today.

Egyptian army battalions marched in the two-mile funeral procession, which was watched by huge crowds.

High diplomatic and military representatives of the British Empire, to which Sabry Pasha bespoke Egypt's loyalty before he collapsed, while reading King Farouk's speech from the throne, attended the ceremonies. Among them were Sir Miles Lampson, the British ambassador, and Lt. Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, commander-in-chief of the British forces in the Near East.

Clearing the Air

WHEN MR. MACKENZIE KING announced in the House of Commons last week that he had written to each provincial Premier suggesting a conference in January to deal with the report of the commission on Dominion-provincial relations he explained: "In the letter I stated that the report commended itself to the judgment of the government, and that we should like to have an opportunity of presenting our views to the provinces in order that there might be a full consideration of them. I expressed the hope that at that time it might be possible to reach an agreement between the provinces and the Dominion with respect to the recommendations contained in the report."

In the foregoing observations of the Prime Minister there is nothing to suggest that the Dominion government expects British Columbia or any other province to accept the first formula Mr. King and his colleagues may propose for the implementation of certain recommendations of the Rowell-Sirois Report. And when we said in these columns last Saturday that "the elected representatives of the people should have an opportunity to air their views and to contribute such suggestions as they feel might be of assistance to the ministers who may go down to the Ottawa conference" we meant exactly that and nothing more. And in his address to the Legislature yesterday afternoon, Mr. Pattullo did discuss this vital subject fully, pointing out the dangers of attempting to reach any "definite and unalterable commitment" ahead of the Ottawa conference proceedings, a course to which no fair-minded critic will object. The Premier's remarks, moreover, supported our argument that "the elected representatives of the people of this province should be told what the cabinet thinks about the Sirois Report." Evidently we actually paved the way for him to bare the ministerial soul. In short, he implied that if the government of this province were to surrender to Dominion authority certain basic sources of revenue on which the economy of British Columbia depends, the task of obtaining their restoration, after the present emergency has passed into history, might be a difficult one. It is not our purpose to dilate on the anomalies which artificial economic formulas and geographical considerations have imposed on this part of Canada. This is not the time to revive purely sectional differences.

The point we reiterate is that the hands of the representatives who go to Ottawa will be strengthened by such measure of advice and suggestion as discussion in the Legislature should evoke. They will, however, meet Mr. King and his colleagues in a spirit of co-operation; nor does the Dominion Prime Minister expect either Mr. Pattullo or Mr. Hart to accept on the government's behalf or on the province's behalf a new economic order, as a war accommodation, unless there shall be such safeguards as will protect British Columbia's fundamental post-war interests.

The Real France

DO NOT JUDGE FRANCE HARSHLY IN this hour of her great distress; she needs more than ever your understanding friendship and she has a legitimate right to it. She has lost everything in the service of freedom. More than one gallant Frenchman who contemplates the political and economic ruins of his native land is addressing words such as these we have quoted to the peoples of countries battling for the preservation of their freedom. Mr. Churchill's recent message to the stricken nation reflected the official view of Britain—a view in which British peoples everywhere will heartily concur. And it is inconceivable that France can die. The France of Montaigne, of Moliere and Racine and Balzac, the France of Chartres, Amiens and Dijon, the France of Valmy and Austerlitz and Verdun—that France will always live in the hearts of civilized men, together with the hope that she may rise again.

But France as a political unit among the nations of the world can scarcely be said to exist at all today. The causes of her fall are an absorbing and necessary field for investigation; but the fact remains that France is under the heel of her ancient enemy. In her relations with the outside world she has no freedom of action. Whatever course she takes must originate with Nazi Germany, or, at least, must not be repugnant to Hitler's secret police. There are signs that Frenchmen are beginning to realize some of the implications of the "new order" of which Hitler is anxious that France become an active part.

For the French people, of course, Canada has a special feeling of sympathy, a feeling not necessary to elaborate; but the French people are mute. For the present French government, which can in the nature of things be little more than a creature of its Germanic master, this Dominion can have nothing but a vigilant wariness. Marshal Petain's plaintive assertion that "at least France retains its sovereignty," has no basis in reality. Those who speak for the French people in their hour of travail will find sympathy; the decent world has its own word for Laval and his ilk.

More Machines Wanted

NAZI RAIDERS HAVE BOMBED historic Coventry—"the city of spires"—many times; but last night they subjected it and its 190,000 inhabitants to a merciless attack, occasioning many deaths and substantial material damage. Latest reports, however, are suggesting that the haphazard methods the Germans employ as they hurry out of anti-aircraft barrages limited the destruction of industrial establishments to comparatively insignificant proportions. But it would be foolish to suppose that this type of raid has no special significance; it can be expected that from now on the vast manufacturing area of the Midlands will be visited as often as Goering's men have a stomach for it. Birmingham, Northfield, Walsall, Wolverhampton, Redditch, West Bromwich and a dozen other communities are humming hives of munition production.

What the vital areas of Britain's war activities have received at the hands of the Hun bombers, however, is obviously nothing like the damage done all over Germany by the ceaseless, methodical campaign which the Royal Air Force has carried out for many months. But Coventry's experience is another challenge to Canada's capacity for the production of more guns, more shells, more airplanes and airplane engines. If those who have so persistently harped on the idea of greater and greater uniformed manpower for dispatch to Britain had used one-quarter of their persuasive eloquence to emphasize the more urgent requirements of industrial mobilization and co-ordination, the people in their island fortress would be less dismayed as they see the prospect of Coventry's experience being meted out elsewhere. Machines and more machines should be our main cry.

For Those in the Front Line

ALEXANDER KIPNIS, BASS BARITONE, and Anne Jamison, lyric soprano, known to radio listeners as the star of a number of big time programs, have come to Victoria to give the concert at the Armories Saturday night in aid of the Lord Mayor's Fund. As both are artists of renown, the concert promises to be one of the musical events of the year. For that reason and also because of the cause which it is to aid, it should prove to be an "all Victoria" gathering. The seating capacity of the Armories will make possible a record-size audience, which, in turn, will mean financial aid needed to bring necessities to the men, women and children who are bearing the brunt of Nazi bombing attacks in what has become part of this war's front line. Lost Freedom

PEOPLE HAVE LOST THEIR FREEDOM from time to time down through the long centuries. But they have never failed to regret that loss and to strive to regain liberty. The world has changed, the editors of Das Reich, a Berlin newspaper, seem to believe. For this paper is urging the people of the Netherlands and of Scandinavia to "cease regretting their lost freedom and be glad to join the German Reich."

Those who have known real freedom are stubborn about things like that. They may be conquered. They may be held down by military occupation. They may be denied freedom. But the longing for lost freedom is something that is not so easily removed as a pair of tonsils. It lies down deep in man, out of reach of the surgeon's knife—or even of the bayonet.

Probably, the bronze soldier on the Parliament Square war memorial was next on the list of Great War trophies to be sent to the junk pile.

CONCENTRATE ON AIR

From Winnipeg Free Press
Is Canada doing the right thing in spending almost two dollars on her army for every one dollar spent on the air force? That is the present state of affairs. The "big army" school of thought appears to dominate our military thinking. Is it wise that this should be so? Has the government thoroughly thought out all the implications of our present war plan, in relation to the broad needs for victory? Under what circumstances do they envisage the need to have a bigger army than air force? Is it for the defence of our own shores? Or is it to contribute the needed infantry and mechanized divisions for the land attack on the continent of Europe envisaged by General Crerar, our Chief of the General Staff, in a recent address.

We direct special attention in this regard to an article by Douglas Reed from the current issue of Maclean's Magazine. Mr. Reed is an uncompromising realist in his views about Europe. His judgments of the Nazi regime in the past have been uncannily accurate. His present opinion is not to be disregarded. It is fairly clear from what he writes that on paper the difficulties in the way of winning the war by direct assault on land are very great. Eventually some such strategy will of course have to be undertaken. But it must be preceded by such a prolonged and violent pounding of our enemies from the air that their vast superiority in numbers on land will be more than counterbalanced by the collapse of their morale. The air attack will be the really decisive blow. The subsequent land operations will be more the final gesture by which the battered and tottering Nazi empire will be finally overthrown. We must not minimize the importance of those operations. But it is an even worse error for Canada to make too much of them.

Pattullo Day

60 MINUTES

IT WAS THE PREMIER'S SHOW in the British Columbia Legislature Thursday. The 67-year-old Thomas Dufferin Pattullo had the entire afternoon to himself. He spoke more than an hour; seldom was he interrupted. His colleagues—even the hard-bolled opposition—listened attentively, actually clinging to every word. Not a soul left the chamber or dozed quietly, which is unusual.

Everyone in the House and galleries was amazed at the vitality of this political veteran, whose delivery was better, whose voice was stronger and clearer than ever before, whose dress was immaculate, almost dapper.

He stood there 80 minutes, reading from neat notes, frequently wandering from his prepared text. His black lounge coat looked as if it had been pressed just before he put it on. His trousers were grey striped, to match his spats. His shoes gleamed. In his left breast pocket showed a handkerchief, for appearance only, apparently, as for practical purposes he used another handkerchief, from his right trousers' pocket. He frequently removed his plince-nez, glared across at the opposition benches as he drove home his points.

He was boastful, he was defiant, as he declared no province, state or country had a better government the last seven years than British Columbia, as he said he never went begging to Ottawa, as some people charged. He had an idea, too, his government would remain after the next election.

Opposition Leader Maitland said he was glad it was only an idea, to which the Premier replied quickly it was a good one.

PRESS SPANKED

HE TANGLED with the press. Some newspapers, he said, were fouling their own nests. The Vancouver Province came in for the worst roasting. But this newspaper was reprimanded, too. Honorable members grinned up at the press gallery. Reporters looked innocent, for they are used to such outbursts from Mr. Pattullo, who explained he liked newspapermen, but felt quite free to point out the many errors of their ways. He admitted the futility of argument with the press; for he said, rather sadly, newspapers always had the last say. Some newspapers, he said, displayed such ignorance he felt he should explain things to them.

The Victoria Times showed lack of understanding when it said "it is political roads of which the public is suspicious."

Every day governments were being lectured by newspapers, he said—and it was quite evident he did not approve. He even went so far in his wrath at the newspapers to say it seemed to him some of them must have ulterior purposes—or perhaps they had an extraordinary lack of knowledge of fact. Why, comment in some papers about B.C.'s roads, he said, had considerably hampered the recent bond offer to the public.

ANGRY, INDEED

YES, INDEED, Mr. Pattullo was certainly angry at the newspapers. No one who knew the papers paid much attention to their comments, he intimated, but harm was being done by them in the east, where, apparently, people can't see through newspaper editorials as they can in the west.

The papers were not alone in the Pattullo spanking. Mr. Maitland was spanked, too, and quite soundly. Mr. Maitland, the Premier said, was always talking "somewhere or other" about the necessity of confidence of government. And yet, the Tolmie government, in which Mr. Maitland was a minister, never missed a day to create lack of confidence in government. "It was all very ridiculous, especially since Mr. Maitland wanted those days forgotten. Mr. Maitland seemed to believe, said the Premier, almost sneeringly, that a new administration created by Mr. Maitland, would restore confidence in government. Preposterous idea!"

"Let's get off the roads, as we're not going to have a highway commission any way" said the Premier, and his brows moved upwards in fury, as he stared across the floor, particularly at Mr. Maitland and Mr. Bruhn, once a minister of public works. And then his eyes twinkled as he said Ralph Bruhn and Tom Uphill were always elected because they were so popular, and had nothing to do with patronage.

Up in the gallery sat the Premier's only daughter, Doris, Mrs. Clifford Collicott, and one of his three small granddaughters, who didn't seem a bit bored by her grandfather's long speech. Up there, too, was Capt. Bowen-Colthurst, the Irish Social Credit gentleman farmer from Sooke, who tried to beat Mr. Pattullo in Prince Rupert in the last election. He was trying to understand how the good people of Rupert every four years return Mr. Pattullo. He looked doubtful and a little discouraged as he left the gallery. It's safe to say the genial, lanky captain won't run in Prince Rupert next time.

On the floor of the House sat Dean Spencer Elliott, in red and black robes. He had read the opening prayers. Conservative Herbert Anson made copious notes. He will hit back at the Premier next week. C.C.F. member Mrs. Jamieson peered and ate a rosy apple.

No one was bored when Mr. Pattullo repeated his old story—how he had not taken any leaf out of President Roosevelt's book, but that the President had copied him, for was he not in power before Mr. Roosevelt? He—as an assurance of himself in this regard he flatteringly said P.D.R. had obviously been following.

HUMANITARIAN RUMBLINGS

REPORTS DIFFER as to the amount of damage done by the recent disastrous earthquake in Rumania. We have been told about the havoc in Bucharest, but must guess at the real damage to the oil wells and oil refineries. We may assume that the news reports originating in Rumania would not exaggerate the extent of destruction in the latter regard. But the whole episode is another sharp reminder of how precarious is the German position as to oil supply.

No modern army can fight a war without plenty of oil, and its ultimate product, gasoline. No modern air force can continue to wage war without a vast reservoir of gasoline. And the gasoline must be of the highest grade—the so-called 100 per cent high octane. The Rumanian rumblings might, therefore, be said to be a compelling reminder of closer relationships between Germany and Russia. For Germany is all too painfully aware that as things stand today, Russia could blast the Rumanian oil wells completely within a few hours of the giving of the order by Moscow. This would be just as true whether the original decision to attack came from Berlin as from Moscow.

Hence, the compulsion on the part of the Nazis to come to terms with the Russians. Hence the likelihood that the terms will centre about some joint scheme whereby Hitler will be facilitated on his road toward the oil of Arabia and Persia—especially if Russia is offered most of the loot with least of the fighting.

Thus, while the Rumanian earthquake may not turn out to be the kind of miracle that people expected it to be when the radio flashes first announced it, it may well prove to be one of the most decisive factors in the war.

MIRACLES DO HAPPEN

It often amuses me to hear people remark, with the air of passing as final judgment as that of the Privy Council, that "the age of miracles is past." If ever there was a miracle in all military history it was that at Dunkerque. By all the rules of war, the British army should have been either annihilated or captured en masse. The Germans, for reasons which it is unnecessary to recall now, had won a 100 per cent victory. It was as nearly complete as that much advertised soap is pure—99 44/100 per cent. Yet a whole army got out and with less human loss than our Canadian Corps alone suffered on one certain day in the earlier war.

I know that if that little British handful of immortals had not held the single last fort at Calais that the circle would have been completed. I know, too, that a French force covered the last retreat of the last Britisher. I know that on that beach there stayed behind, deliberately in the course of duty, one of the finest young men ever reared in this city where I live. But the miracle did happen, even if human beings as always had to play their parts, and pay the price.

That is the fact which strengthens my conviction that the Nazis can never win this war. Miracles do happen. Which is just another way of saying what the rugby football mentors used to try to hammer into our heads in Ontario, at school and college. They phrased it thus: "Hit the line hard, tackle low, keep on kicking, and wait for the breaks." The breaks do come, and that is what the Germans never seem to be able to understand.

It would be possible to demonstrate from what happened at Dunkerque that the Nazis will never succeed in their aim of world conquest. They are too scientific, if one can abuse that term. That is, they are really unscientific in things which count most. They excel the world in organizing ability and in the painstaking perfecting of detail. But they invariably entangle themselves in their own blueprints.

It is no secret that the Germans had already prepared, long before the war started, complete plans for the invasion of any country with which they considered war conceivable. Their conquest of France was an almost classic example of the execution of a long prepared and rehearsed plan.

Naturally they had a plan for the invasion of Britain, most likely based on that of Professor Banse. But they were beaten in the first battle for Britain by their own super system.

If, when we were trying to get our army out of Dunkerque, or even when we were making the less hazardous evacuation after the final fall of France, the Germans had literally poured troops into England by any conceivable device—parachute, motor boat, or anything else—the war might well have been over insofar as Britain and Europe were concerned, last June. There was nothing whatever to stop a helicopter invasion. Our armies were not even back, and when they came they brought only their own bodies. Armaments were nil.

When Foch was supreme in the strategy of France his whole principle was—never tie yourself to a fixed line or a fixed mind. Wait for the breaks. When they come, hit them with everything. That is still good advice.

Let me say that, since October 4, 1939, there has not been one pound of scrap iron exported from the Canadian Pacific coast and, as there is no steel mill in western Canada, there has accumulated between 30,000 to 50,000 tons of scrap iron in the hands of the so-called "junkman," with no prospect of disposing of same.

While there is a demand for scrap iron in eastern Canada, the freight rates, because of the low price that scrap demands, make it prohibitive to ship this by rail and, because of the shortage of ships, scrap iron has piled up in such large quantities that most scrap dealers have ceased buying this material.

In view of the above, does it seem probable that a so-called "junkman" would advocate the scrapping of souvenir guns that are on display in Victoria?

While there is, at present, a shortage of certain finished steel products, the fault does not lie with the scrap dealer, who, through his pioneering and hard work, has built up an industry that even in times of war has created a surplus of raw materials.

May I suggest that the writers check up on their statements before having same published.

NO DECADENCE THERE

From Windsor Star

When 477 schoolchildren from Great Britain went to Australia, they were feted at every port where the ship stopped. At one place the children were taken on a picnic and they consumed 300 oranges, 1,000 apples, 2,000 ice creams and 300 pounds of candy. And not one stomach ache was registered in the whole crowd. Think of that and then snap your fingers at anyone who says the British are a decadent people.

ON GIVING SOLDIERS RIDES AND IN TORONTO THE GOOD!

To the Editor:—Appropos of the recent requests that soldiers be given rides by car owners, I should like to bring to the public notice a matter, perhaps hitherto overlooked, namely, should such soldiers receive injuries due to an accident while riding, the crown has the legal right to sue for damages.

The Motor Vehicle Act of B.C., which was changed in 1938, states that there can be no legal right of action against the owner or driver of a motor vehicle for damages arising out of injuries to a gratuitous passenger. This law apparently has no significance, for the Department of National Defence is demanding payment for hospitalization and lost wages for a young soldier who was slightly injured while in my car, and although I have written them of this change in the law, they still claim legal right of action.

Why does this state of affairs exist? Do our B.C. laws mean nothing in Ottawa? It appears that we in B.C. are being lax about this existing condition while kind-hearted car owners are being made the poorer for their kindness.

B.C. Will Be Prepared For After-war Problems

Premier Pattullo said in the Legislature yesterday:

There will be no highway commission in British Columbia.

He favored larger old-age pensions, at a younger age, for everyone in the province, irrespective of their financial position.

He would, if he had his way, send Canadian manpower anywhere in the world where it was needed to fight the dictators.

Canada would, when peace came, maintain a good-sized navy, army and air force for several generations.

There will not necessarily be a provincial election next year, the life of the present Parliament not expiring until September, 1942.

British Columbia, as long as he heads the government, will fight for its rights.

Any proposals to which the government agrees at Ottawa in January will be submitted to the Legislature for ratification.

He was sure the province would produce oil in a few years on a large scale.

NO CHARITY

"It is said the government is or increasing old-age pensions," opposed to reducing the age limit the Premier said. "My own personal views are, and I think they are views shared by my colleagues, that at the earliest possible date the age limit should be reduced, the pensions increased and given to everybody who has reached the age limit, irrespective of their financial circumstances. This pension would be a matter of right, not of charity."

But such changes would cost scores of millions and the province could not take any action without the concurrence of the Dominion government.

Dealing with the war Mr. Pattullo said, "there are those who seem very anxious to know what our aims are in this war. We have several aims, but our first aim is to beat a ruthless, murderous enemy who seeks to dominate not only Europe, but the world. Economic considerations are not the main basis of this war. Race dominance and revenge are the predominant factors."

"So far as I am concerned, I would send Canadian manpower overseas, on land, sea and air, anywhere on the face of the globe where it seems necessary to win the war."

He said he was for conscription of wealth and manpower to the last man and the last dollar.

The Premier said he would not permit British Columbia to be hog-tied and ham-strung by Ottawa.

"I do not think the argument valid that unless the Sirois report is adopted in toto our war effort will be jeopardized," he said. "It is not necessarily requisite for the winning of the war to make permanent changes in our constitution to meet conditions after the war which cannot be foreseen."

AGAINST BEGGING

He said there were certain interests antagonistic to the pro-

Win War First

Premier Pattullo... "not necessary to make permanent changes in constitution to win the war."

vince who would like to tie the hands of provincial authority so that for everything "we require here we would have to go to Ottawa, hat in hand, begging; they would like to see this province so that it cannot move of its own accord, but must have the sanction of Ottawa authorities. Remote control would jeopardize the unity of Canada and would certainly be injurious to this great province."

On the highway commission subject, the Premier said he had seen no argument of any weight favorable to the appointment of such a commission. Commission advocates refuted their own arguments, he said.

"This administration does not intend to assume responsibility for the operation of commissions over which it has no control," he said. "The movement for a highway commission looks to me one of design for two or three purposes—one of these is an argument to create an unfavorable opinion towards this administration and also as the means of bringing about the expenditure of all available monies in some special locations, without regard to the requirements of the whole province. They feel they could more easily influence a commission than they could this resolute and prudent government."

PREPARING FOR PEACE

The government was already preparing for the difficult days that will follow the war, the Premier said.

"When this war is over, you will not find the federal authorities demobilizing the men, putting them out on their own and leaving them to the mercy of happenstance," he said. "In the first place, during our lifetime and our children's time, we are going to maintain our various protective services, the navy, the army and the air force and for such as it may be necessary to demobilize, provision must be made ahead for their proper rehabilitation into the civil life of this province."

"All these matters are receiving the most careful scrutiny and attention of this government, and we propose to collaborate with Ottawa to the fullest extent in meeting all these important problems."

Of the next provincial election the Premier said, "situations may arise which no one can possibly foresee at the moment and we will have to be guided by the course of events."

UNEMPLOYMENT

If the Dominion government had not entered the income tax field in the last war British Columbia would never have had to borrow a single dollar for unemployment relief, the Premier said.

"It seems an anomalous situa-

LaGuardia Sees Military Airport

"They're a fine lot of snappy looking youngsters, well-drilled. Discipline looks good. It brings back recollections of about 20 years ago when I went through it. I want to congratulate the officer commanding for the fine turn out."

That thumbnail interview from New York's stocky Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, chairman of the U.S. section of the joint defence board, was the only statement made by members of the board as they paid a lightning visit to the Patricia Bay airfield yesterday afternoon.

In the crisp November sunshine Mayor LaGuardia and members of the board, accompanied by Air Commodore A. Earl Godfrey, head of the Western Air Command, and Wing Commander C. R. Slemmon, Western Air Command, took the salute from the guard of honor which marched passed on the main runway of the military field.

Cars carrying the party drew up at the side of the field. News-reel and press cameras went into action as the mayor and his party were met by Squadron Leader R. G. Briesse, acting officer commanding, and Flying Officer W. H. Poupore, M.C. adjutant.

INSPECT GUARD

Flight Lieutenant Gordon Diamond and Flying Officer John Parker, in charge of the guard, brought their men to the present as the band of the 111 Squadron the only air force band in western Canada, struck up a lively tune, under Bandmaster A. Tuttle.

Accompanied by Air Commodore Godfrey and with others of the board following, the mayor inspected the ranks and returned to the saluting base for the march-past.

Overhead two Lysander planes, close flying, circled the field.

At the staccato command of their officers, men of the guard wheeled and marched before the distinguished visitors, eyes right as they passed. The mayor took the salute with bared head.

A brief chat with officers of the airport and briefer remarks to the press and the party was in cars, rolling towards Victoria again under a Provincial Police escort.

Included in the group were Col. O. M. Biggar, chairman of the Canadian section of the board, Col. G. P. Vanier, former Canadian Minister to France, Major C. K. Gally of the U.S. Army and General Erdick.

members of the Junior Red Cross, and bearing in mind the large donation from the children to the Lord May's fund, and the great restraint shown by them this Halloween compared with previous years it is clearly demonstrated that the children of Victoria appreciate the seriousness of the times and are pulling their weight in the war of fort Co-operation between home and school in this effort should be directed toward the reclamation of the following classes of material:

Magazines. The old or unsuitable to be sent to canteens or for the merchant marine. These if taken to school are kept until 2,000 pounds are on hand and then sold as wastepaper. Also newspapers, wrapping paper, paper bags, cardboard and any waste paper (except grease paper or wax paper, which should be very carefully excluded as these varieties spoil the usefulness of the rest).

Tin foil, aluminum utensils, lead foil, old car batteries and (most valuable of all) toothpaste and shaving cream, medicinal and facial cream tubes will now be accepted at this store, but donors are requested as far as possible to keep different kinds separate.

We accept clean good clothing done up in parcels addressed to the Overseas League, (Mrs. Macdonald, secretary, for convenience of donors and the league).

We accept magazines for Mrs. Quinn who distributes them to the Three Services.

Sale of heavy scrap such as automobile engines, etc. can be arranged by consultation with us. We have further information on file.

It is most encouraging to have the schools undertaking the matter, as the details and labor involved for single private individuals makes complete coverage of the city impossible without such help.

The following schools have definitely arranged to receive such contributions and others are expected to complete arrangements shortly:

Victoria High School, corner Fernwood Road and Grant Street. George Jay School, corner Chambers Street and Queens Avenue.

Quadra Street School, Quadra Street.

A. H. PEASE, Honorary Manager, Red Cross Superfluties Store, 1220 Government Street.

Letters to the Editor

THE ROOMING HOUSE SIDE

To the Editor: There are two sides to every story, and so much anathema has been poured on rooming houses lately because they refuse to take children that it is time to say a word in their defense.

A man in uniform, or his wife, tramping the streets looking for lodgings and being refused because of small children has caused everyone (who doesn't make a living renting rooms) to go overboard in a sea of emotional indignation on their behalf. A little sane reasoning should make it obvious that if a certain type of tenant is consistently turned down there must be some reason for it. A little questioning of proprietors would elicit some enlightening information; and if all the reasons for refusal to take children were enumerated here this letter would be too long to print.

Father's donning a uniform

tion that we should be compelled to borrow money for purposes which should be paid for by the Dominion government, because its entry into the income tax field made such borrowings necessary."

Mr. Pattullo visualized a great influx of settlers to British Columbia when the war was over. "Personally I have been in favor of a vigorous immigration policy," he said.

B.C.'s mineral and timber resources would never run out, the Premier said; they would last for thousands of years. Drifters in the Peace River country had only to dig another 1,000 feet for expected oil. Already they were down 5,500 feet.

"I hope and confidently believe we shall be producing oil in this province on a large scale," he said. "It takes time, it takes money and it takes courage to bring that about, but this government has the courage, it will take the time and will try to get the money to reach fulfillment of our hopes."

He saw also possibility of establishment of a great steel industry in the province.

"When one thinks of all these possibilities and factual circumstances, one can certainly be of good cheer," he said.

He said that he would not sell down the river the people of British Columbia or the Liberal Party by forming any coalition government, as some quarters had suggested and as had been done recently in Manitoba.

He recalled how he had been invited, as Leader of the Opposition in 1928 to enter a coalition government by Premier S. F. Tolmie, but had refused.

does not transform his children into little angels; and disregard of other people's rights and property which did not matter in the child's own home becomes painfully evident when he is transplanted into a rooming house.

It is not only service men's children who are turned down; children were turned down by rooming houses long before the war started—the present demand has simply focussed attention on a situation which always existed. Strange as it may seem to some readers, proprietors are not the stony hearted, unpatriotic, unfeeling wretches they are held up to be; they are just ordinary people who have found by experience that they can't make their business pay if they take in children.

Stop abusing rooming houses and telling them how to run their business. This is a special wartime situation demanding special treatment. We hear much of the dry canteens, hostels and places of rest and entertainment for service men. Why not extend these services and do something for the men's families as well? Secure some of the empty buildings in town (such as the Salvation Army obtained for their canteen), fit them out as living quarters and let them to service men's families. This is such an obvious remedy one wonders it has not been suggested before. Perhaps as one of our well-known writers remarked in a recent article, some of our societies are so busy with "blame-finding activities" that they have little time left over for constructive thinking.

(Mrs.) H. I. MacKENZIE, 121 Menzies Street.

VALUE OF WASTE

To the Editor: Interesting information on this subject recently appeared in the press from Mrs. Frances M. Flintoff, secretary, Women's Conservation Committee of Sarnia, Ontario. The work of collecting many forms of scrap materials is now being energetically undertaken at the Victoria schools, organized by members of the teaching staff and pupils under the auspices of the Junior Red Cross and all money realized goes to the Red Cross.

Those responsible have pointed out to the writer that in homes where children are attending school there is no more efficient way of assembling many small contributions of waste materials than interesting the children in taking small parcels with them on their way to school as often as such material is available. Over 1,000 children have shown their co-operation by becoming

BUSINESS TODAY
NEEDS AN UMPIRE

"What business needs today is something in the way of an umpire," George R. Matthews, secretary-manager of the Retail Merchants' Association, British Columbia division, told members of the Rotary Club yesterday at the Empress Hotel.

It needed this leader to tell what was wrong with the business regulations, to say what was not fair to the distributor, the producer and the consumer, Mr. Matthews said. In this respect the Retail Merchants' Association looked to the government for aid in establishing regulations that would be fair to all.

"We are constantly trying to improve in business regulations, giving advice where it is necessary. Rarely do we prosecute, and we do so only after the guilty party has been warned several times and advised as to which course he should take," the speaker said.

The speaker, himself a Rotarian from Vancouver, was introduced by George MacDonald and thanked by Walter Fletcher.

A sing-song, led by G. H. Harman, with George Ozard at the piano, preceded the address.

Judge Congratulates Fighting Husband

Mr. Justice Manson, in Supreme Court in Vancouver yesterday, granted Frederick Chas. Summerville of the R.C.A.F., Patricia Bay, a divorce from Stella Stuart Summerville of Fort William, whom he married in Port Arthur on November 20, 1934.

His Lordship congratulated Summerville for breaking the jaw of Robert John D'Arcy of Fort William, who was cited co-respondent. Summerville stated that on finding D'Arcy in his home at Fort William he threw him out.

"Did you make a good job of it?" asked His Lordship.

"I broke his jaw, Your Lordship," replied the witness.

"Congratulations," said the judge.

BANFF CARNIVAL QUEEN—Canada may be at war but the friendly relations between the northern Dominion and her big neighbor to the south remain unchanged, and it is an American girl, Miss Catherine Betts of Spokane, who will reign over the Banff Winter Carnival to be held February 13 to 16. Miss Betts is the third American girl and the first from the State of Washington to preside over the Canadian Rockies' Snow Carnival. "Queens" are selected on the basis of sportsmanship, attire and proficiency at skiing, snowshoeing, skijoring and skating.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Alex Riddell came over from Vancouver today to be the guest of Miss Innes Bodwell, Rockland Avenue.

Mrs. Horatio Walker of Montreal arrived in Victoria yesterday and will spend a few days with Mrs. F. W. Hartley, Monterey Avenue, before taking up residence at The Angela for the winter months. Mrs. Walker is a sister of Lord Beaverbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Petta-piece of Vancouver, and their daughter and grandson, Mrs.
Terry North and Terry, junior, after spending a few days in Victoria with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. O.
Cole, Linden Avenue, have returned home.

Mr. L. Brown of Shaughnessy Heights, Vancouver, formerly of Montreal, has been visiting in Victoria for a few days with his cousins, Mrs. A. K. Mitchell and Miss Gladys Jones, Terrace Avenue. Mr. Brown has gone to visit at points up the island before crossing over to his home on the mainland.

Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Robinson, Argyle Street, left last night for Vancouver where they will be special guests at the banquet to be held tonight in the Hotel Vancouver to mark the golden jubilee of Vancouver's high school system. Dr. Robinson was principal of the original Vancouver High School in 1890, later becoming superintendent of education for the province, and he will propose the toast to the guests.

Miss Dorothy Campbell, who is to be married this month, was honored last evening when Miss Mona Doyle entertained the members of the Junior C.W.L. at a delightfully-arranged party at her home on Erie Street. During the evening Miss Campbell, who is a very popular and active member of the juniors, was presented with a beautiful silver tea service. A buffet supper was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother,
Mrs. M. Doyle, and Mrs. H. E.
Gandy. Twenty-five members were present.

Scout Bazaar Success

The North Quadra Scout Association bazaar held on Wednesday in the Scout Hall, Glasgow Avenue, proved a success, and a substantial sum was realized for the furtherance of their work.

Mr. H. Bond, president of the group committee, introduced Mrs.
A. H. C. Phipps, cub commissioner, who spoke very encouragingly of the work and declared the bazaar open. Prize-winners were Mr. F. Rich, Mr. Carl Grunow, Mrs. R. Love, Mrs. T.
Rutherford, Mrs. A. Holmes, Mrs.
Lipsett, Mrs. K. Noble, Miss D.
Holt and Mr. Roy Beecroft.

Court whist was played in the evening. The next card game in the hall will be December 12.

MISS SADIE SMITH

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Smith, 1221 Lyall Street, Esquimalt, announce the engagement of their twin daughter, Sadie Gertrude, to Mr.
Wellington Robert Pringle, R.C.N., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs.
Robert Pringle of Regina, Saskatchewan. The wedding will take place at St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, Esquimalt, December 24 at 2 p.m.

Weddings

BROWN-DALE

A pretty wedding took place
this afternoon at 2 at St. Matthias Church, between Marion, youngest daughter of Mrs. Edith Dale and the late Mr. A. H. Dale, and Peter Horwood Brown, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Brown, 1030 Terrace Avenue. The bride was given in marriage by her eldest brother, Mr. Charles Dale.

Relatives and close friends attended the reception held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dale, Hilda Street. After a short honeymoon on the island the young couple will reside in Victoria.

THOMPSON-REZAC

The marriage of Frances Hazel, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rezac of Langford, to Gunner George A. Thompson, R.C.A., was solemnized at the home of Rev. F. W. McKinnon, Saatchi, at 7 last night.

The youthful bride wore a wedding gown of heavy white brocade with fitted bodice, with lace ruffles around the sweetheart neckline and down the front of bodice and around the waist and with tiny crystal buttons.
Her finger-tip chapel veil of white net was edged with orange blossom. She carried a Colonial bou-quet.

The bridesmaid, Miss Violet
Oak, wore a charming net frock of Romance blue over blue taffeta, with lace insertion, tight bodice and bouffant skirt, trimmed with rosemary pink bows and sash. She wore a tiny shepherdess hat of rosemary pink net and taffeta, trimmed with pink and blue velvet and tiny flowers, and carried a sheaf of pink carnations and antirrhinum.
Gunner Clare Duncan Thompson,
R.C.A., supported his brother.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the Women's Institute Hall, Langford, the happy couple standing in an arch of greenery with pink and white carnations and similar streamers to receive the good wishes of their many friends. Mrs. C.
Rezac received in a sheer, crepe dress of dove grey with lace yoke and sleeves with a sky blue French felt hat, a corsage of pink carnations, assisted by Mrs.
L. Thompson, the groom's mother, in a dress of royal blue, with hat en suite, and corsage of pink carnations.

Refreshments were served, the bride cutting the handsome three-tier cake, topped with a tiny silver gun. Mr. C. D. Thompson proposed the health of the bride.
Among the many gifts were those from the Esquimalt Dramatic Club, Langford Tennis Club, and Langford-Colwood A.Y.P.A., with which the bride had been associated. Dancing was enjoyed with Miss Mabel Brown at the piano.

The bride's going-away dress was of grey voile, with black princess coat, and pompadour off the face hat. The young couple will reside in Saanich.

WILLIAMS-SCOBY

The marriage took place very quietly at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, this morning at 11 of Louis Berryman Williams, son of Mr.
and Mrs. A. B. Williams, McNeill Avenue, to Margaret Gwendolyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R.
Scoby, Sinclair Road, Cadboro Bay.

Mr. Scoby gave his daughter in marriage, and Mr. Fred Mitchell supported the bridegroom. Rev.
H. St. J. Payne performed the ceremony in the presence of immediate relatives of the young couple.

After the service a small reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the customary toasts were honored.
Later Mr. and Mrs. Williams left for a honeymoon in Vancouver, and on their return will make their home on Oak Bay Avenue.

Bride Is Survivor Of City of Benares

After 14 canceled sailings and 24 hours in a lifeboat as one of the few survivors of the ill-fated City of Benares, Miss Marion Doreen
Day of Gloucester, England, finally arrived in eastern Canada for her marriage today to Mr. Eric de Pencier, son of the Most Rev.
A. U. de Pencier of Vancouver, retired archbishop of Westminster.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Day of Gloucester and the late George Day.

Archbishop de Pencier and his daughter, Miss Betty de Pencier, who motored east recently, and Mr. Joseph C. de Pencier of Ottawa, the groom's brother, will be in attendance at the ceremony.

The couple will reside in Montreal, where Mr. de Pencier is associated with an aircraft company.

W.M.S. Senior Auxiliary of First United Church met Monday at 2:45 in the schoolroom.
Mrs. W. N. McKay will conduct the devotional period. Mrs. A.
Latham is in charge of the program.

Princess Patricia Lodge No.
238, Daughters of St. George, will hold their social evening tonight in the K. of C. Hall at 7:30.
Nomination and election of officers will take place. Members are asked to please bring refreshments.

A silver tea was held on Tuesday afternoon at Belmont Avenue United Church, under auspices of Mrs. Butler and Mrs.
Albert Parfitt. Mrs. Jenkin and Mrs. Calderhead poured tea from a tea table prettily decorated with a lace cloth and silver candlesticks with tall pink candles and a centre mirror which reflected a silver basket containing rosebuds and fern. Mrs. Hardy and Mrs. Owen served. Mrs. D.
Parfitt and Master Keith Little rendered vocal solos and Mr.
Donald Nelson a piano solo.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Tuberculous Veterans met at the home of Mrs. T. Fulthorp, 447
Kingston Street, on Thursday with a good attendance of members, and Mrs. B. Burnett presiding. The auxiliary had as a guest Mrs. D. MacDonald, immediate past president of the Provincial Command, who has come to Victoria to make her home. The report of the bazaar was given by the treasurer, Mrs. R. V. Stand-erwick, the results being very gratifying to the members. The report of the recent conference held in Nanaimo was read by the secretary, Mrs. Crowhurst, and all points vital to the work were fully discussed and voted upon.
The bulletin from the men's provincial command was also fully gone through. Mrs. Hall and Mrs.
Standerwick, conveners of the wool committee, reported that 10 parcels had been sent to England for the Canadian boys there, each containing many comforts of wool and smokes, candy, etc. So far 63 pairs of socks have been made and 12 sweaters from the wool purchased by the war work committee. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. V.

Standerwick, 1025 Bay Street, on December 12. Tea was served by Mrs. Fulthorp at the conclusion of the meeting, with Mrs. A.
Fouracre as co-hostess.

Demonstrate V.O.N. Nursing Visit

The board meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses was held in the board room at the Pemberton Building on Tuesday, the president, Mrs. George Hall, in the chair. It was reported that Miss Mary McCuaig, western supervisor, had made her semi-annual visit to this district during the month.

A resume of the work done by the nurses during October showed that 1,091 visits were made to 162 new patients; 172 visits to mothers and babies; 10 pneumonia; 61 communicable; 20 cancer; 130 chronic; 330 others, and 348 instructive; five well baby clinics were conducted with a total attendance of 84.

Mrs. Alex Straith reported on the work of the pre-natal sewing class. Miss Creaser spoke of the urgent need in the city of suitable rooms and houses to accommodate families with small children.

A typical nursing visit was demonstrated by Nurses Black, Wade and Gifford to illustrate the health education part of the V.O.N.'s program. Appreciation was expressed for donations of knitting, sewing, and for the volunteer work of the Junior Auxiliary.

Lady Tweedsmuir Assists I.O.D.E.

LONDON (CP)—Comforts for Canadian forces overseas, collected in Canada by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, are being distributed here in co-operation with the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Lady Tweedsmuir has accepted the appointment as overseas representative of the I.O.D.E., and details of distribution of cartons from Canada were discussed at a meeting of the Joint Field Comforts Committee at her Oxford residence, Elmsfield Manor.

Baby Adoption Is Fantastic Case

CHESTER, Eng. (CP)—Two women drew prison terms today in a fantastic baby adoption case while the husband of one of them, who testified he came overseas with the Canadian Expeditionary Force in the last war, faced a charge of conspiracy with them.

Lizzie Ireland, alias Marcia Lady Haldon, described as aged 62, was sentenced to three years while Isabella Blackett, 50, nurse-secretary, drew a 12-month sentence after conviction on charges of conspiracy to make a false birth statement and with forgery.

The women, who pleaded not guilty, were alleged to have registered a baby, which the crown said was really born to another woman, as the son of Lizzie Ireland by the late Lord Haldon whom she said he married irregularly in Scotland in June, 1938.

The prosecution alleged that Lizzie Ireland was nearly 61 on March 13, 1939, when the child the defence alleged was Lawrence Edward Broomfield Haldon was born, but she testified her present age was 46. The crown submitted that the birth of a child of that name never took place.

Mrs. E. Basford of Middlewich testified that Lizzie Ireland adopted her child.

Dr. Ireland said he came overseas in 1916 and married Lizzie

Sings for War Victims

With the support and patronage of the city's leading organizations and the active aid of the school children in selling tickets, enthusiasm in tomorrow night's benefit performance at the Armories is reaching a high pitch. The Lord Mayor's fund for the bombed people of Britain will benefit from the performance.

To keep out foreign insect pests and plant diseases, U. S. plant quarantine inspectors watch 40 seaports, 11 airports, 12 international railroad crossings, and 17 highways at borders.

Open Door Spiritualist Church silver tea tomorrow afternoon, 2.30 till 5, at 639 Yates Street.

The First Baptist Church Red Cross unit was organized recently, with Mrs. W. C. Bradshaw as convener and Mrs. W. H. Foote as secretary. Work is now under way and the next meeting will be held this afternoon from 2 to 4 when new members will be welcomed.

The Mt. Douglas P.T.A. will hold a home cooking sale in Spencer's basement tomorrow. The monthly meeting will be held at the school on Monday at 8 p.m. The speaker will be a member of the Citizens' Active Service League. Refreshments will be served.

A tea and sale of work will be held in the Parish Hall of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, Obed Avenue, on behalf of the Gorge Unit of the Red Cross, on Thursday next, from 3 to 6 p.m. The home cooking stall will be in charge of Mrs. Filbert, assisted by Mrs. Leggett; miscellaneous stall, Mrs. Davey, assisted by Miss Holmes; home-made candy, Mrs. McAllister; tea arrangements in charge of Mrs. Gilbert, assisted by Miss Burt. The committee hopes for a large attendance to help further this most worthy cause.

At a special meeting of the Soroptimist Club of Greater Victoria, held last night at the home of Mrs. R. E. Greenslade, 2174 Cadboro Bay Road, the president, Miss Marjorie Holmes, in the chair, it was decided to hold the annual dinner as usual. This will take place on Saturday, January 4, at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, and the usual special guests will be invited. Plans were also discussed for a lecture in the near future in aid of the war charities' fund of the organization. Other matters of business were dealt with before adjournment, and the reminder that Mrs. Gertrude Huntly Green would be the speaker at the November dinner meeting next Tuesday at The Wishbone. After the meeting, the hostess served refreshments.

The Royal Oak Women's Institute met Thursday afternoon in the Community Hall, the president, Miss K. Oldfield, in the chair. One new member, Mrs. A. D. Corher, was welcomed. The financial report was presented by Mrs. E. R. Neal. Mrs. C. W.

Tolson reported as convener of the school committee, and with Mrs. J. Jones, was asked to attend the next Saanich School Board meeting regarding the cleaning out of the basement of Royal Oak School. An old-time dance will be held tonight, part proceeds to buy a radio for the Canadian Scottish Regiment now in the east. A harvest supper followed by games, will be held Wednesday, November 20, at 6.30. Mrs. J. W. Harrison will convene the supper and Mrs. P. M. First Completely-balanced B.C. Budget for Years

Increased Expenditure, No Tax Jump

$250,000 for Cities; Big Tree Planting Scheme

Announcing that for the first time in many years British Columbia's provincial finances are completely balanced in fiscal 1940-41, Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, made his 15th budget speech to the Legislature this afternoon.

The finance minister proposed no changes in taxation for next year, beyond a minor adjustment in chauffeur's license fees, but asked the House for an increase of $678,416 in the main appropriations.

The government plans to use $250,000 of the increase as a special educational grant to municipalities and during the coming year will make an exhaustive investigation looking to a more lasting solution of the real property tax problem.

Another $120,000 will be allotted to a substantial reforestation scheme of planting 12,000,000 young trees on between 10,000 and 15,000 acres.

The finance minister announced that in rescuing the teachers' pension fund from insolvency the government is going to take responsibility for $1,875,000 needed to provide current pensions.

During the last year it has picked up the Doukhobor mortgage at a cost of $207,500 and saved the Doukhobors from losing their lands.

Mr. Hart tabulated estimates asking for appropriations totaling $29,947,207, which is $678,416 higher than the main estimates of the current year. He predicted revenues of $31,957,391 which would leave him a revenue surplus of $2,010,184, an amount sufficient to cover unemployment relief costs.

"Industrial and employment indices suggest the possibility of a volume of revenue greater than the estimated sum," he said. "Should this materialize, debt redemption provisions will be increased by that extent."

War Creates Need For Extra Services

Discussing the larger appropriations sought by the treasury, Mr. Hart said:

"National defence needs and the war economy have affected our budget. Either new or additional protective measures for property and persons have had to be provided. The care of refugee children; educational and health services for members of the armed forces; public works in connection with military camps and air-dromes; and co-operative efforts with industries in war efforts require the expenditure of additional public funds."

He mentioned the following main items of increase in the estimates: provincial police up $95,960; the new special school grant to municipalities $250,000; reforestation $77,000; contributions to superannuation fund $60,000; child welfare branch $32,075; hospitals, $89,895; mental hospitals $11,230; conveying children to schools $10,000; advances to rural school districts $80,000; administration of justice $12,850.

On the other side of the ledger, the revenue, he predicted $400,000 more from liquor profits than estimated in the current year, $2,100,000 more from income tax; $30,000 more from the gasoline tax, $25,000 more from timber royalties and $125,000 more from motor licenses and fees, $25,000 more from the fuel oil tax, $25,000 more from probate fees and another $25,000 from land registry fees. Against these he estimated a drop of $150,000 in succession duties, $50,000 less from mineral taxes, $40,000 less from timber licenses and $30,000 less from miners' certificates and mining receipts.

Warmly Applauded For Balanced Budget

Mr. Hart drew loud applause from the Liberal benches when he reviewed his financial policy of the last seven years.

"We anticipate during the current year a revenue surplus over ordinary expenditures of $6,004,000, which will enable the payment of current debt redemption charges, our full share of unemployment relief costs, and full sinking fund instalment provisions. In other words the first balanced budget in every sense of the word for many years."

Secondly, he said the treasury would be able to repay $25,000,000 of the provincial debt next year without going to the open market for new securities and without touching the sinking funds set aside for other issues.

Thirdly, he said the debt carrying charges would be reduced $1,200,000 through the reduction in debt. Finally, he said he confidently expected the 1941-42 would be completely balanced.

"This House will recollect," he said, "that the present government assumed office in the midst of a major economic depression; at a time when the treasury was bereft of funds, when revenue was insufficient to meet current costs as well as heavy commitments, when unemployment relief levied an enormous toll on national and provincial resources, and when public services rendered were on a skeleton basis. It will also recollect that, after a careful survey, the government decided to adopt a policy which would be elastic enough to meet the exigencies of the time and subsequent developments."

Restoring Credit Important Object

"The policy adopted had to provide for a number of require-

Fifteenth Budget

Delivering the account of British Columbia finances for the 15th time in the Legislature this afternoon Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, proudly announced that the province is well out of the financial morass of depression years, and has a completely balanced budget for the first time in many years.

ments and contingencies. Services had to be restored to an adequate standard and had to be extended to municipalities; the unemployed, the sick and the needy, required urgent assistance; our provincial credit had to be re-established and public debt maturities had to be taken care of, despite market vagaries.

This involved the re-allocation of revenues and the restriction of expenditures to definite limits; the deferring of certain fixed charges; the conservation of cash resources; and the stimulation of revenue collections to the point where substantial surpluses would accrue.

"A detailed summary of the financial operations for the eight years ending March 31, 1941, shows that current revenue exceeded ordinary expenditure by $27,687,126.12 as a result of eight revenue surpluses; that of this surplus $12,090,544.90 were allocated to debt redemption purposes and $13,234,959.07 to unemployment relief. It portrays the control exercised and the expansion allowed to expenditures. Finally, it shows an available credit balance of $2,361,622.15 which will enable full provision of sinking funds for the current year. On the basis of actual experience we, therefore, can look to a fully balanced budget during this and the next fiscal year."

The Finance Minister announced that the treasury is engaged in a detailed study of the Rowell-Sirois report to study the full implication of its recommendations to the province and prepare for the conference at Ottawa in January.

Reviews Province's Part in War Effort

The minister closed his address with a review of the war's effect on the province and the problems it had provided for the government.

"Empire and home defence needs have, either directly or indirectly, affected greatly our provincial economy and increased our departmental functions," he said.

"Upon the declaration of war our first step was a renewed pledge of loyalty to the Empire. Assurance was given to the federal authorities that this government would co-operate fully in any effort designed to speed the war to a successful conclusion. That policy has been maintained without deviation and will be continued with unshaken resolve."

"Many problems have arisen and many demands have been made upon us. All these received government attention and whenever possible appropriate action was taken."

"The co-operation by the government in the war effort is reflected in manifold ways, the less spectacular being often the more important. In all respects, however, it has been co-operation of a positive and objective nature."

Special Police Register Aliens

"Within this scope are found measures to protect property and persons against sabotage, espionage, and subversive activities. The registration of aliens and firearms; continuous contact with the army, navy and air force; and the organization of a special police force of nearly 2,000 men to deal with emergencies."

"Men have been armed and police radio stations have been fitted with auxiliary equipment to prevent the isolation of any part of the province."

"Valuable assistance has been given to the National Defence authorities in connection with the construction and equipment of military camps and air ports."

"Roads and bridges contiguous to military encampments and air-dromes have been improved and are maintained adequately to deal with increased loads and traffic."

"To the British Timber Control Board, we have lent our senior forestry technicians so that their work be simplified and their timber purchases filled speedily and by the best product."

"Regulations have been modified to facilitate timber sales and to give immediate precedence to all war timber work."

"The facilities of our surveys branch have been placed at the disposal of the defence authorities who have made free and continuous use of them; and men, recommended by the military authorities, are given a short course of training, in our topographical division, on the interpretation and use of aerial photographs."

Industry Encouraged To Assist in War

"Close touch is being kept with federal authorities to encourage the production of minerals or materials that formerly were obtained from foreign countries, particular attention being paid to those of use in the war and those for which the market may be held after the war is over. This is equally true of by-products from the mining industry which, often, are so important in the production of war materials."

"Fisheries experts have devised means to offset the greatly diminished supply of cod liver oil from Norway by blending certain British Columbia oils. Co-operating with the fishing industry, they have helped in not only overcoming this shortage but also in supplying, through a vastly expanded herring production, cheap protein foods to areas affected acutely by the war."

"Officials of the Department of Agriculture are in close and constant touch with our farmers in order that the industry may adapt itself speedily to changing conditions, and help to fill the gaps caused by loss of supply from other countries."

"Statistical and economic data has been compiled to help bring every resource of British Columbia to bear upon Canada's effort in the war. These compilations have been of great value to the War Supply Board, the Department of National Defence, and wartime industries."

"Measures have been taken to facilitate the distribution of labor and the supply of skilled workmen. By revision of apprenticeship regulations a large number of young persons has been released for specialized work in the production of war materials."

Health Services Available to Forces

"Clinics, laboratories, and curative institutions have been placed at the disposal of our forces, and appropriate steps have been taken for the placing of refugee children in free homes."

"It is in this manner that every department of the government service has co-operated in Canada's war effort. The outline, of necessity, has been brief and incomplete, but it serves to show, in some degree, that no avenue is being overlooked. General government policy itself is an important factor, and our refusal to increase taxes, alone, is a material contribution."

"The fields covered and the excellence of the work by private organizations and individuals are now common knowledge."

"The extent of the industrial effort is perhaps best explained by pointing out that agricultural production has increased from $47,782,000 in 1938 to approximately $57,500,000 during the present year. Forestry production has risen from $67,122,000 to $97,500,000. Mines production has gained from $64,496,000 to $72,000,000. Fisheries have equalled the $18,726,000 record year of 1938. Basic industry, therefore, has increased its production by some $47,600,000, or by 24 per cent. Data on manufacturing is incomplete but available information suggests a value of $130,000,000 during 1940, which is $30,500,000 greater than that for 1938."

"Thus have we supported the Dominion and the Empire in their war efforts; and thus, energetically, shall we continue to do our part until victory is won."

$250,000 for Cities

Municipal Survey Planned Next Year

A special grant of $250,000 for school purposes will be made to municipalities next year, Hon. John Hart announced in his budget speech this afternoon.

Mr. Hart said this grant would enable local governments to reduce their school tax levies upon real property.

The minister said final revision of relations between municipalities and the province must depend on the Rowell report but that the government was making this readjustment in the meantime.

"A survey of municipal needs, as well as a ways and means to provide for them will be carried out," he said, "and government action pursuant thereto will find expression when this House meets again at its next session. In the meantime, a special grant of $250,000 has been included in the estimates."

Mr. Hart explained it had been the government's intention to postpone settlement with the municipalities until the Rowell-Sirois report had been fixed. But, he added, the tax field of municipalities was rigid and the main sources of revenue to local governments was from real property.

OWNERS PAY

"The rapid growth within recent years and the number and cost of municipal services has been reflected upon a limited number of taxpayers—the property owners."

"This government has always recognized," he continued, "the claim that some measure of relief should be extended to municipal governments, particularly if such relief enabled an immediate tax reduction on real property. This has been evidenced by the assistance it has already extended since coming into office."

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE

Mr. Hart said since 1933 government aid to municipalities in the way of educational grants and motor vehicle revenue had increased by $615,641.

In addition it had assumed additional costs for unemployed and had relieved municipalities of social service charges which in the last fiscal year would have cost them $802,000.

He said by comparison with six years ago municipalities had benefited by government action to the extent of $2,001,084.

The finance minister added the government had helped municipalities borrow $2,056,324 under the Municipal Improvement Assistance Enabling Act.

Dealing with the question of educational costs, the minister pointed out the government contributed 34.02 per cent of the cost, municipalities 55.09 per cent and rural school districts 9.9 per cent.

Rural districts, he said, received their revenue solely from taxation on real property and it was for that reason that the new $250,000 grant was earmarked specifically for education.

subject Mr. Hart said, the property acquired by the government under the deal had been turned over to the land settlement board for administration.

"Every effort," he said, "will be made to improve the conditions in connection with Doukhobor settlements."

Auto Taxes Less Than Road Costs

Revenues from gasoline taxes and motor license fees in British Columbia are not sufficient to carry the road debt and pay for maintenance of roads and construction of new ones, Hon. John Hart, Finance Minister, told the Legislature this afternoon.

Mr. Hart dealt at some length with the road problem and the suggestions that have been made for earmarking gasoline tax revenues for new road work.

He explained that under the British North America Act the government could not earmark the money specifically since all government revenues must go into the consolidated revenue fund.

Dealing with the road costs, Mr. Hart said the total debt against roads, in actual debentures, amounted to $43,148,292 and the carrying charge on this, for interest and sinking funds was $3,085,198 annually. In the 1939-40 fiscal year road maintenance cost $2,523,875, and another $761,454 was spent on roads through the unemployment relief fund. This made a total cost of $6,370,527, although actually in recent years the full sinking fund requirements have not been set aside.

Aggregate revenues from gas taxes, motor license fees and the Pattullo Bridge tolls amounted to $6,120,942. This amount was not sufficient to cover the bill for roads.

Over and above the road debt charges and maintenance cost $5,779,279 was spent on capital construction last year, the minister said. The total of all road expenditures thus far exceeded the revenues from these tax sources.

Motion were ordered sent to the mayor and aldermen.

The general opinion of the meeting was that no shortage of scrap materials existed at present and that the guns, trophies of the last war held in trust by the city, should be restored to their previous locations.

The meeting also endorsed a resolution protesting the unhealthy conditions reported to exist in the military camp near Nanaimo and suggesting the local military authorities be authorized by the Minister of National Defence to purchase equipment to remedy the conditions. The motion was telegraphed to the Minister of Defence.

Current Revenues Soar to $35,000,000

War conditions have sharply increased revenues of the British Columbia treasury, Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, told the Legislature in his budget speech this afternoon.

Dealing with the comptroller-general's report for the first six months of the 1940-41 fiscal year, the finance minister said revenue collections amounted to $17,850,676, an increase of $1,695,924 over the same period last year. A collection of some $35,000,000 is anticipated for the full fiscal year.

Liquor profits were up by $102,521, the gasoline tax produced $173,300 more, income tax was up $1,435,443, timber royalties increased $113,656, timber sales were higher by $74,573 and water rentals and recording fees were up by $100,835.

Against this revenue, from real property taxes dropped $142,973 and from succession duties $137,371 and other revenue sources decreased $24,000.

Mr. Hart said the expenditures in the same period were down by $358,782, but he explained this was not a true indication of the financial position. Since accounts come due at different periods of the year.

minister explained, are steadily reducing the relief drain on the treasury.

In a year the relief rolls have decreased by 57 per cent and costs are down by 35 per cent, Mr. Hart said. The gross cost of relief in September was $288,071. In the same month of last year it was $442,000.

Total expenditures for direct relief, indigents, civic improvement schemes and Dominion-provincial undertakings to provide work, was $9,076,596, of which the federal government contributed $3,687,246, the province $4,653,159, and municipalities $735,992.

Chauffeurs' Fees Cut in Half

License fees for chauffeurs will be reduced in British Columbia, Hon. John Hart announced in his budget speech in the Legislature today.

Class "A" licenses, which permit chauffeurs to operate every kind of motor vehicle will be cut from $7.50 to $4. Class "B" licenses, allowing drivers to operate vehicles with a seating capacity of seven passengers and other vehicles transporting personal property will be reduced from $6 to $3. Class "C" licenses, covering chauffeurs driving vehicles used exclusively in transportation of personal property will be cut from $4 to $2.

The minister said the reduction will cost the treasury about $30,000.

This was the only taxation change announced in the minister's budget speech and he added the government intended to allow generous depreciation allowances for capital investments in depreciable assets, acquired or constructed for war purposes.

"Each case," he said, "will be considered on its merits and particular regard will be paid to the term covering the use of such assets for war purposes."

Mr. Hart outlined to the House the maturities of provincial debt coming due next year, amounting in all to $24,536,936.

The bulk of this made up of two issues of $7,375,000 and $9,921,936 in inscribed stock. Sinking funds for these securities have been maintained in full and will be sufficient to retire the debentures.

For $7,340,000 of other debentures falling due the sinking funds have not been maintained, but, the finance minister said, the treasury will be able to meet the loans without going to the open market for refunding purposes.

Treasury Assumes Teachers' Liability

The provincial government proposes to accept the liability for pensions of teachers under the 1929 plan, but in future will insist employers—that is school boards—and the government must pay a contribution towards future allowances.

This was announced in the Legislature this afternoon by Hon. John Hart in his budget speech.

Mr. Hart recounted the situation into which the teachers' pension fund had developed in the last 10 years and said actuarial reports showed it would be necessary to pay into the fund 8 per cent of the teachers' total payroll, in order to make good the existing liabilities.

"In view of this serious situation," he said, "the government is prepared to recommend to the House that the province assume the liability of current pensions, which amount to $1,875,000. Employers will be asked to contribute annually to the fund, a like proportion to the payroll as that contributed by the municipalities, that is 7 per cent; and the teachers have volunteered 1 per cent of their salaries for 20 years. These provisions cover fully the requirements of current pensions as well as future pensions to active teachers."

"This phase of the proposed plan is being given serious consideration and a recommendation will be admitted in due course," he said.

education, now paid through real property taxes, it was not proposed to ask employers to contribute their share until January 1, 1942.

"Before that time," he said, "the government hopes to have rendered further assistance towards the cost of education and thereby enable a reduction in the tax burden on realty."

The finance minister said a bill covering the teachers' pension plan would be brought down in the House, turning over administration of the teachers' pensions to a body independent of government operation.

The government will turn over to the new body B.C. 3½ per cent long-term debentures to cover the government's liability to the fund and will take over for general sinking funds any investments the fund now has to offset this liability.

CUTS PENSIONS

While the minister did not give any detail of the new pension plan he said it would reduce somewhat the amount of the pensions now paid, but the reduction was not as severe as experienced by municipal pensioners who had their revised scheme put through last year.

"This phase of the proposed plan is being given serious consideration and a recommendation will be admitted in due course," he said.

Taylor Retiring From Public Life

With the comment "I think the post should be handed on to some one else," Reeve R. R. Taylor announced to fellow councilmen at the regular meeting last night he would not stand for re-election as the chief magistrate of Oak Bay in the December elections.

REEVE R. R. TAYLOR

Reeve Taylor has occupied the office for the last five years. He also said his retirement was also due to pressure of business and other reasons.

As yet, no resident of Oak Bay has announced his intention to run for the reeveship. There has been no contest for the office since 1925.

Councillors William Ellis, Richard Angus and E. Vernon Jackson are the three council members whose terms will expire this year. Councillor Ellis is the only one who said he would seek re-election. He even intimated he would run for the reeveship. The other two would not commit themselves when asked.

The meeting set December 9 as the closing date for nominations. The election will be held December 14.

R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk, was named returning officer and A. D. Finlay deputy returning officer.

The council chamber of the Municipal Hall was named as the polling station for the municipality.

Forecasts Gain In Population

Work should be done now to prepare for an unprecedented growth in Canadian population after the war, Dr. J. F. Walker, Deputy Minister of Mines for British Columbia, told delegates to the western meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy in Vancouver yesterday.

He said when the war was finished hordes of people from war-torn Europe would look to Canada and other low-density population countries for new homes. "I am convinced this migration will take place," said Dr. Walker. The mass migration of British people from the United Kingdom to other parts of the Empire... is actually starting in the face. It is a tremendous problem fraught with great difficulties. But in it lies the future of the Empire and that hoped-for alliance of the English-speaking peoples of the world.

"If this migration is not a migration of British people it will be a migration of foreigners." He said the United Kingdom was now overpopulated by 22,000,000, and that increasing industrialization of such countries as India would necessitate further migration.

He envisaged a growth in urban population in western Canada, simultaneously with this migration.

To take care of this increased population, he said, western Canada had an abundance of cheap power, and sufficient raw materials of a fairly wide diversity to initial industrial development.

On the basis of cropland and wheat production, he added, Canada could maintain a population of between 26,000,000 and 42,000,000.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

VANCOUVER scribes are going at great length these days to boost the stock of Vancouver Bulldogs for their exhibition Canadian football match against Calgary Bronks in the mainland city. It amounts to a verbal blast. No wonder. The boys have to try and make the fans forget about those two pastings the Bulldogs received from Victoria Reveliers. There is no doubt in the minds of local fans as to which is the best club in the province, and it is criminal that the local boys will not get a crack at the Bronks.

Reveliers have worked hard to put over the game in this city and now, with a chance to attract a real big gate, they have been handed a raw deal by Vancouver. Just imagine how many would turn out at Macdonald Park to watch Paul Rowe, Victoria boy and star of the Calgary backfield, tear off yards. And Rowe is good. He has been selected a member of the all-star Western Interprovincial Union team for the last two seasons.

There is no shortage of first-class fight material on this continent if one is to believe Ray Arcel, top trainer and second who travels about the United States handling fighters.

"There are more good boys in United States and Canada than you suspect," Arcel says.

"What the sport needs is more top-notch promoters and match-makers."

"Making it worth their while to travel. The people of Detroit, Cleveland and elsewhere seldom see headliners."

"When they do get one, he is usually fed someone who is pretty soft, and the business boys down."

"Managers are no longer looking for new fields for their boys. Why, I recall Benny Leonard going to Kansas City for a savage fight with Ever Hammer just to open up new territory for himself."

"There are too many house fighters, and they are protected too well for the good of the sport. New stars should be matched."

"Billy Conn and Al McCoy drew $21,000 in Boston. Anton Christoforidis, unknown there, and Jimmy Reeves did well in opening the season in Cleveland."

Soccer Tomorrow

St. Andrews Here

Coast League soccer will hold forth at the Athletic Park tomorrow afternoon, when Victoria United engages Vancouver St. Andrews. Kick-off is set for 2:45 with Dave McMillan as referee and Joe Obee and Scotty Dowds running the lines.

With only one victory in five starts the United occupies last place in the league standing. If the squad hopes to be a contender for the championship it will have to start hitting the win column.

In their last engagement the United dropped a 1 to 0 decision to the Saints on the mainland.

St. Andrews will bring over a club strengthened by the addition of Erling Storness, full-back, and Wes Henderson, centre-half, former members of the Vancouver Radials.

It was announced yesterday that players of all teams in the Coast League have been numbered to assist the fans in becoming acquainted with the members of the clubs.

Teams for tomorrow, giving the players' numbers, follow: Vancouver St. Andrews—B. Newbold 1, E. Storness 2, A. McLatchey 3, W. Hyslop 4, W. Henderson 5, C. Goodheart 6, G. Greig 7, W. Thompson 8, J. McIntosh 9, M. Osovsky 10, J. Craig 11, F. Ambler 12, J. Webber 13, G. Manzer 14, D. McGeachy 15 and G. Stephens 16.

Victoria United—Moss 1, Wilkinson 3, C. Robbins 15, Leggett 4, G. Robbins 7, Sage 5, Moon 6, Hope 10, Travis 9, Cosler 11, Morgan 12, Dallimore 14, DeCosta 2, Cooper 18, and Blakeburn 16.

Reveliers Play English Rugby

Many members of the Victoria Reveliers Canadian Football team will be seen in action in an English Rugby game to be played tomorrow afternoon at Macdonald Park under the auspices of the Victoria Rugby Union.

The Revelier players are with the 5th (B.C.) Coast Brigade, N.P.A.M. team, which will be battling 2nd Battalion of the Canadian Scottish at the James Bay enclosure at 2:30.

The 5th Brigade team is composed of: Grogan, B. and G. Murdoch, Bob Wallace, R. Baker, H. and E. Barber, Coomber, Gornall, Harris, McKeachie, Coleman, Johnson, Dalziel and Hoole.

At Admirals Road tomorrow afternoon Navy and 5th Brigade of the active service ranks will meet in a service league rugby match. It will start at 2:30.

Notes of Legislature

E. E. Winch, C.C.F. member for Burnaby, who collapsed during his speech Wednesday, was recovering today from his seizure, but will be absent from the House several days.

Nine bills providing for amendments to existing legislation were brought down in the House Wednesday.

Attorney-General Wismer submitted an amendment to the Legal Professions Act giving the benchers power to call to the bar and admit to practice law, students who have joined the fighting forces before completing their training.

Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Municipal Affairs, brought in a bill empowering the city of Nanaimo to set up a board of commissioners for its new civic arena, with authority to administer the project.

Mr. Gray also submitted a measure validating a refunding scheme for the city of Rossland. It calls for an issue of $196,500 4 per cent debentures in exchange for the city's existing bonds.

Minor changes in the Evidence Act, the Apprenticeship Act, the Trades License Act and the Municipal Affairs Department Act were offered in other bills.

Soldiers' Land Scheme Urged

A policy of classifying settlement lands that will be available to returned soldiers after the war was urged upon the provincial government yesterday by "Land Settlement Bloc" of Liberal members from the interior and northern parts of the province.

A resolution of the bloc was submitted to Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands. It pointed out that farm settlement would play an important part in the rehabilitation of returned men.

The resolution urged that immediate steps be taken to classify, catalogue and reserve suitable available lands to provide the very best locations for returned men. The settlement bloc consists of Mark Connelly, Omineca, chairman; Louis LeBourdais, Cariboo, secretary; E. T. Kenney, Skeena; H. G. Perry, Fort George; George M. Murray, Lil-loet; Thomas King, Columbia and Glen Braden, Peace River.

3 MONTHS ON BISCUITS AND MILK

Woman's Digestive Troubles

Everyone who is subject to any form of indigestion should know of this woman's experience. Advice from one who has had such severe attack is advice worth having. She writes:

"I suffered from indigestion, gastritis and constipation, and was so very ill, I had (on medical advice) to live on soda biscuits and milk for three months. Well, a friend advised me to take Kruschen, and now I am pleased to say I am greatly improved. I can eat and enjoy a good meal without any painful after-effects, my skin is clearer—in fact, quite clear—and there is no sign of constipation. I would advise anyone suffering the same to take Kruschen."

(Mrs.) M. R. L. The immediate effect of the several salts in Kruschen is to stimulate your liver and kidneys to normal action and help to free your system of poisonous waste matter. Soon after you start on Kruschen you will find that you are able to enjoy your food without distressing after-effects.

COUNCIL WARNED ON PASTEURIZATION

VANCOUVER—Warning that the city may have to pay out large sums in compensation if a typhoid epidemic develops through the 18 per cent of milk which is allowed to come into the area unpasteurized was given before a service club here by Dr. Lawrence E. Ranta of the Department of bacteriology and preventive medicine, U.B.C. Dr. Ranta attacked the city council for delay in cleaning up the milk situation in Vancouver through allowing a proportion of diseased and unpasteurized milk to be distributed to unsuspecting consumers.

"Every medical organization in the world has gone on record for compulsory pasteurization of milk," Dr. Ranta said. "Yet 80 years after Pasteur's discovery the Vancouver City Council has the audacity, the temerity and utter stupidity to shelve it 'so both sides of the question' may be considered. Both sides are established facts."

"At the present time 82 per cent of the milk in this city is pasteurized. The majority endorse pasteurization. In fact, any member of any council would call that an overwhelming majority."

"The dairies and even the raw milk distributors are willing to accept compulsory pasteurization."

"There you have both sides of the question. Can it be that our statesmen find it politic to listen to noisy minorities?"

Logger Killed

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP)—Gordon M. Ferguson, 45-year-old employee of the Veder Logging Company, was instantly killed when hit by a falling branch from a tree being felled, yesterday afternoon. He was a resident of Mt. Lehman, in the Matsqui district.

BING CROSBY IN ATLAS FEATURE

When making his newest starring picture, "Rhythm on the River," which opens at the Atlas Theatre today, Bing Crosby has youngsters to the Paramount studio to have their pictures taken. When the sittings were completed and the proofs of the pictures were handed Bing, he remarked, "Adenoids! Look at 'em. Every one with his kisser wide open."

While that might be a roundabout way of finding out, it is effective, so if you want to find out if your child has trouble in that direction, have his picture taken.

SAGA OF SAGEBRUSH Opens at Dominion

The old southwest, haven of romance and frontier adventure, is the range for a trio of the gayest, most gallant cavaliers the screen has yet uncovered in the Paramount saga of the sagebrush, "Rangers of Fortune," which opens today at the Dominion Theatre.

Chalk up this super-western, directed by the great Sam Wood, as a spectacle and a feast of entertainment to rank with such masterpieces of action as "The Virginians," "The Plainsman" and others of hallowed memory.

The action takes place in a little town on the Mexican border, and concerns their taking up with a gallant little newspaper publisher who is losing in his desperate battle against a land-grabbing gang.

"London Can Take It," sensational pictures of London taken during an actual raid, is being shown on the same program.

PLAZA THEATRE

An exciting blend of adventure, mystery and romance, Universal's "South To Karanga," which is now at the Plaza Theatre, proved to be a genuinely entertaining melodrama. Enacted by a capable cast headed by Charles Bickford, James Craig, Lull Deste and John Sutton, the film depicts the harrowing events which befell a small group of whites in the African interior. A mysterious murder and savage attacks by natives provide suspenseful sequences.

RIO THEATRE

Bill Elliott is again starred as that fearless gunman of the Old West, Wild Bill Saunders, in Columbia's "The Man From Tumbleweeds," now at the Rio Theatre. Iris Meredith is the hard-riding star's leading lady in the bullet-riddled saga of adventure on the prairie. A desperate gang of outlaws who infest the community of Gunsight are the targets of Wild Bill's six guns in the new film and he blasts them out with unerring aim in colorful and sensational Saunders style.

CADET THEATRE

Ned Davenport, son of Harry Davenport, acted as stand-in for his father, in Columbia's "Too Many Husbands," now at the Cadet Theatre with Jean Arthur, Fred MacMurray and Melvyn Douglas. He is the only son in Hollywood to act as stand-in for his dad.

Capitol Holds 'Mounted Police'

"Northwest Mounted Police," a colorful and dramatic slice of early Canadian history, has proved so popular at the Capitol Theatre that it is being held over for a few days more.

A splendid cast headed by Madeleine Carroll, Preston Foster, Robert Preston and Lynn Overman gives a convincing performance in a dramatic story of the courage displayed by Canada's famous police unit during the early days of the Riel Rebellion.

Once again proving her dramatic versatility, Joan Crawford steps from her glamorous role of Crystal Allen in "The Women" to the portrayal of the cynical and slightly shopworn cafe entertainer, Julie, in "Strange Cargo," the powerful melodrama of a group of derelict souls, currently playing on the Oak Bay screen. The new hit costars Miss Crawford with Clark Gable for the sixth time.

WHIRLAWAY WINS PIMLICO STAKES

BALTIMORE (AP)—Whirlaway, beaten favorite in the rich Pimlico Futurity, came back with a winning effort yesterday and beat seven other two-year-olds in the 34th running of the $75,000 added Walden Stakes over a muddy track at Pimlico.

The Calumet Farm's colt, carrying top weight of 122 pounds and ridden by jockey George Woolf of Cardston, Alta., raced to a four-length victory over Mrs. E. G. Lewis' Magnificent. M. E. Ryan's Stimady was third, another two lengths back.

The heavy track held the time for the mile and a sixteenth to 1:52.1-5. Whirlaway paid $5 for $2, while picking up a purse of $2,150.

With the Forces RECRUITING BOARD TO KEEP MOVING

Royal Canadian Air Force headquarters has announced creation of a traveling recruiting board to assist applicants for enlistment throughout the province.

The board will make periodic trips through British Columbia to interview applicants and explain full conditions of enlistment to them. Accepted applicants will then be asked to complete all necessary forms and to remain at their civilian occupations until called for service.

When the applicant is called he will be given transportation to the recruiting centre here, where medical examination and various trade and mechanical tests will be given. Those failing to pass the tests will be provided return transportation.

Men wishing to enlist in the R.C.A.F. should first write to the

It has been found that many of the missing parcels have fallen to pieces in transit, because of bad packing. Others have been insufficiently addressed.

The photographs will be sent to Canada to help soldiers' relatives to address and pack the parcels properly.

LEADS MECHANIZED UNIT—The only man in Canada who ever attempted and succeeded in putting a military band on horseback is the commanding officer today of Canada's newest light mechanized unit, the 2nd Regiment of the Governor-General's Horse Guards. He's Lieut. Col. W. L. Rawlinson, long known as one of Canada's outstanding horsemen and one of her most experienced cavalry officers.

CHRISTMAS PLANS

Christmas arrangements will be made this year for members of the navy, army and air force who are away from home. Alderman W. H. Davies says the plan will be the same as last Christmas. Victorians who wish to invite a guest during the Christmas or New Year season are asked to leave their names with him at the office of the Empire Realty Company or phone E 7441. As there are many men here from prairie and eastern Canadian cities it is probable residents here who originally came from other cities may wish to invite members of the service who come from their former home towns. In this event they are asked to mention this when listing their names as hosts for some of the troops.

WINS 'SPECIAL MENTION'—Air Marshal W. A. Bishop announces he has made "special mention" of Corp. Ian Hamilton Collins, young Ottawa airman, in his report on his visit to England. Collins, who acted as his chauffeur, refused to take shelter during air raids because "he always wanted to be on the job," Marshal Bishop said.
